U.S. Steel Ups Price, Joining 7 Other Firms

J&L, Armco And Inland Fall In Line

Bethlehem. Ranked No. 2 Producer, Has Not Yet Acted

BULLETIN
BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP)—Bethlehem Steel Co. today announced it is increasing prices on three of its products, joining nine other steel firms in boosting prices.

NEW YORK (AP)—Eight companies which produce more than half of the nation's steel have pulled into line with selective steel price increases.

The spreading wave of boosts picked up momentum Tuesday when the giant of the industry, U.S. Steel Corp., joined.

Also raising prices were Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., Armco Steel Corp. and Inland Steel Corp.

National Steel Joins

Price Boost Parade

PITTSBURGH (AP)—National Steel Corp., the nation's fifth leading steel producer, joined eight other steelmakers today in the selective price rise parade. The hike ranges from $4 a ton to $7 a ton.

The increase is effective Thursday.

Board Chairman Thomas E. Millsop said the higher prices will compensate National Steel only partially for increases in labor and other costs since the last price increase in August 1958.

A year ago Inland refused to go along with an attempted increase which collapsed.

Increases also have been ordered by Wheeling Steel Corp., Lukens Steel Co., Republic Steel Corp. and Pittsburgh Steel Co.

Still to be heard from was Bethlehem Steel Corp., ranked No. 2 among the producers.

Some industry sources gave the raises a good chance of sticking, in contrast to the effort a year ago, which fell apart under pressure from President Kennedy and failure of a solid front to develop.

As company after company announced boosts, Kennedy remained silent although he was reported keeping a close watch on the situation.

After Wheeling broke the price line the President indicated that selective increases would be acceptable but cautioned the industry and the Steelworkers Union against action which would lead to a general increase.

U.S. Steel's price raises were the lowest of those announced so far, averaging $4.85 a ton.

"An improvement in prices is obligatory and we have concluded that an attempt to secure some price adjustment is warranted at this time in light of all the competitive factors," said U.S. Steel President Leslie B. Worthington. "Steel costs less than almost anything you buy," he added.

Worthington said that with his company's changes, finished steel prices would stand at about the same level as at the end of 1958.

"Big Steel" and the other companies cited five rises in labor costs since 1958, when the last general steel price increase came. "Earnings have dropped substantially, dividends have been reduced and employment has declined," Worthington said.

Exiles Splitting?

*** Council Head May Quit Thursday

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Two years ago Fidel Castro's army routed the U.S.-endorsed Bay of Pigs invasion. Today, Cuban exiles commemorate the event amid developments that threaten to split and possibly shatter the Cuban Revolutionary Council—the body through which the luckless raid was sponsored.

While exiles hung black crepe on their doors, six of 12 revolutionary groups comprising the council reportedly were ready to accept the resignation of Jose Miro Cardona, council president. The others planned to reject it.

Miro remained silent and apparently bent on submitting his controversial resignation letter Thursday. The letter reportedly lambasted U.S. policy toward Communist Cuba and charges the Kennedy administration reneged on anti-Castro action offers.

The State Department, which has a copy of the document, called it inaccurate and sharply rebuked Miro.

The Miami News, in a report attributed to close associates of the council president said Miro in a Washington visit requested:

1. Collective action against the Castro regime.

2. The same type of military and financial assistance for the Cuban exiles as the Soviet Union provides for Castro.

3. A $50-million loan for the purpose of arming an anti-Castro force

All three points were rejected by Robert Hurwitch, deputy chief of the State Department's Cuban task force, the News said.

After Miro returned to Miami Hurwitch telephoned him April 7 asking him to withhold his resignation and wait 30 days before resigning and consult Washington first before issuing a statement.

Miro declined the requests and Hurwitch flew to Miami where a copy of the letter was given to him. The News said also that Miro was told release of his document would result in exiles being banned from entering any U.S. government office.

John H. Crimmins, chief of the State Department's Cuban affairs office in Miami, denied that any such threat was made.

Named Party To Probe

Court Cites Sub Escort Skipper

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP)—A Navy court of inquiry has cited Lt. Cmdr. Stanley W. Hecker, skipper of the submarine escort vessel Skylark, for what it called his failure to report the last messages from the ill-fated submarine Thresher "for an unreasonable length of time."

The court on Tuesday named Hecker, 36, of Brooklyn, N.Y., a party to its investigation of the loss of the Thresher with 129 men aboard. The five-member court then recessed and announced it would resume hearings after Hecker has obtained counsel and examined evidence given thus far.

The Skylark was accompanying the nuclear submarine when it made its fatal dive.

The court said Hecker's conduct as the Skylark's commanding officer "appears to be subject to inquiry," but emphasized he is not blamed for the loss of the Thresher.

The submarine sank in 8,400 feet of water about 220 miles east of Cape Cod during a deep sea test dive last Wednesday.

Rear Adm. Lawson P. Ramage, deputy commander of the Atlantic Fleet submarine force and the initial commander of the search effort, testified Tuesday that he did not learn for a few days that Thresher had indicated the possibility of trouble.

Lt. (j.g.) James C. Watson, 43, Hecker's navigator on Skylark, testified before the inquiry board last Saturday that the last distinguishable message from Thresher to Skylark was: "Experiencing minor difficulty. Have positive up angle. Trying to blow."

The court said "trying to blow" meant Thresher was trying to clear its ballast tanks for surfacing.

Rights Unit Makes Report

Kennedy Urged To Take Step Against Mississippi

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Civil Rights Commission has urged President Kennedy to crack down on Mississippi, possibly cutting off federal funds, unless the state acts promptly to protect the rights of its Negro citizens.

The commission, in a special report to the President, said Tuesday night that since last October "open and flagrant violation of constitutional guarantees in Mississippi has precipitated serious conflict—Each week brings fresh evidence of the danger of a complete breakdown of law and order."

In Palm Beach, Fla., aides said Kennedy had not received the report sent him by commission Chairman John A. Hannah and would have no comment.

The commission urged Kennedy to step up federal efforts "to suppress existing lawlessness" and

Gives To Scholarship

Looking Ahead

It's D-Day for the "Dollars for Scholars" drive.

Three-year-old Diane Lynn pops a dollar into an envelope for her share of the Citizens' Scholarship Foundation house-to-house canvass set tonight in East Liverpool, Chester, Wellsville and Beaver Local school districts.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lynn, 1222 St. George St.

Over 400 volunteers will solicit $1 memberships in the foundation, which is seeking to raise funds to help qualified college students get into college.

The membership cards will also admit a donor to a modern music concert April 25 at Westgate Auditorium, featuring district dance bands, combos, vocalists and dancers.

High school band units are slated to ride trucks or march through East Liverpool, Chester and some of the other areas, playing music to call attention to the canvass.

George Vukas, chairman for the Wellsville drive, said about 50 per cent of his area was canvassed Tuesday night and a report on collections will be available Thursday.

Foundation leaders emphasized again that money raised in each community will be used for students of that area in scholarships to be awarded within two months.

An estimated 21 per cent of students in the district never go to college because they and their families lack the money a foundation spokesman said.

"The theory that anyone can get to college if he or she wants to doesn't hold up in many cases," Glenn H. Wright, drive supervisor, said.

"I know of a senior girl whose father is hospitalized, whose mother works and who holds a part-time job to help maintain the family home. She ranks in the upper 10 per cent of her class—but she can't go to college with the present family income."

"We hope residents of the area communities will join the foundation for a dollar or assist in any way that will permit our young people to fully develop their potential and as a result, to help the community in general."

3-Way Crash Hurts Woman In Halted Car

Motorist, 43, Cited By Officers After East End Mishap

A Midland woman was injured slightly and an East Liverpool motorist was cited by police in a three-way "chain reaction" crash Tuesday at 2:27 p. m. on Pennsylvania Ave. near Palissey St., officers reported.

Betty Hawthorne, 47, of 709 Midland Ave., went to City Hospital for X-rays of the shoulder and upper arm after her halted auto was rammed from the rear, police said. She was released after examination.

The mishap also involved a 1961 four-door sedan driven by Gordon Griffin, 46, of Glenmoor and a 1956 two-door sedan operated by Harold Smith, 43, of 829 Lincoln Ave., officers said.

The Midland woman was unable to give a statement following the crash, police said. Griffin told officers he halted behind the Hawthorne car, which stopped "for some unknown reason," and his auto then was struck from the rear by Smith's.

Smith told police he was unable to halt in time to avoid striking Griffin's car. All three vehicles were eastbound, police said.

Smith was cited on a charge of failure to stop within the assured clear distance.

He is due for a Municipal Court hearing Thursday at 9 a. m.

The collision damaged the rear of the Hawthorne and Griffin autos and smashed the front end of the car Smith was driving, owned by Charles Sprout, 678 Lincoln Ave., police said. Patrolman Orin C. Smith investigated.

Street Light Project Aired At Wellsville

Councilmen Told Installation Of 24 Will Take 60 Days

Installation of 24 new lights at various locations in Wellsville and increased power in others will be completed in about 60 days. City Council was informed Tuesday night.

Councilman William Stroble, street and light chairman, said his committee has been informed by the Ohio Power Co. the work will be done within the next two months.

Council approved the installation at its last meeting. The project will cost an estimated $883.20 a year, or $763.20 for new lights and $120 for the increased power.

The money will come from a surplus in the street lighting fund. Stroble said some new poles will be set and others moved. He said the committee has worked "very hard on the project."

Councilman Frank R. DeLorenzo said the Ohio Power officials will obtain permission from the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. to use some of its poles. These lights will take a little longer to install as the agreements will have to be worked out between the two utilities.

Stroble also reported the committee is nearing completion of preparing the street repair program. He asked the committee and Council to meet next Monday evening to check the list of streets to be repaired. This will be the largest number the city has ever attempted to do in one year, he said. The work is done with

Chester's Tax Delayed After Solicitor Quits

A Space First

*** Satellite Used In News Parley

NUTLEY, N.J. (AP)—Five New Jersey newspapermen held the first press conference through outer space early today, using the communications satellite Relay 1 in a 25-minute hookup between here and Rio de Janeiro in Brazil.

While the press conference was being held, an Associated Press photo—a Satephoto—showing the five men seated around a table was sent to Rio through the satellite.

The hookup was between the ground station at the International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. laboratories here and a portable ground station operated by IT&T at its subsidiary in Rio.

In Rio, officials said the picture quality was good, though slightly dark and with barely visible white dots.

It was transmitted from The Associated Press general office in New York to the American Cable & Radio Corp., in lower Manhattan and thence to IT&T's station.

The five newsmen who took part in the space press conference were James Hill of the Newark Star-Ledger; Ben Nawyn of the Paterson Evening News; Joseph Grant of the Bergen Record; Dave Carlisle of the Passaic Herald-News; and Kenneth Gross of the Newark News.

Board Picks Name

Hancock School Called Oak Glen

An official name was selected Tuesday night by the Hancock County Board of Education for a new high school under construction in Pughtown that will consolidate the upper grades of Chester, Newell and New Cumberland this fall.

The board also announced that a Chester High School girl has been named recipient of a $2,000 college scholarship provided by the state.

After deliberating for several months on a name for the new Pughtown school, the board selected the title Oak Glen.

Supt. Robert H. Hall pointed out that the section in which the school is being erected has been known as Oak Glen by rural residents for some time.

Miss Catherine Anne Vogel, a Chester High School senior, was named recipient of a state scholarship worth $500 for each year of study.

DAUGHTER of the Rev. and Mrs. C. Donald Vogel, 340 Carolina Ave., she plans to enter West Virginia University to study for a career in elementary education.

Miss Vogel compiled the highest scores in aptitude tests on teaching ability and education. Each high school in the county submitted the name of one student in the competition. The scholarship is given each year for study at any West Virginia institution of higher learning.

Alternate recipient is Tillie Holovak of Weir High School in Weirton.

In other business, the board gave final approval to levy rates sanctioned temporarily last week when the new budget was compiled for fiscal 1963-64.

Although G. Thomas Battle, state tax commissioner, advised by letter that his office cannot give its approval until a final decision is made on assessed valuations under attack in Hancock County Circuit Court by Weirton property owners.

THE LEVY rates, set the same as last year, are designed to raise over $2 million of the board's budget of $3,828,734 for operating county schools next year.

Supt. Hall, secretary, was authorized to advertise for bids for three new school buses for the 1963-64 term.

George Owings, a county native now teaching in Florida, was hired as a new mathematics and social studies teacher.

The board authorized Dr. W. Dale Williams, president, and J. Fred Allison and Mrs. Mary

Council Gets Petitions To Force Vote

Ruth Cox Turner's Resignation Cites 'Press Of Business'

The lack of a Chester city solicitor—as a result of the resignation of Atty. Ruth Cox Turner—delayed final action on a proposed $6 "head tax" at a meeting of Chester Council Monday night when petitions bearing 932 signatures of residents seeking a public vote on the tax were submitted.

Council officially accepted the resignation of Mrs. Turner, filed in a letter in which she said she was quitting because of the press of business duties and professional activities.

Mrs. Turner had been absent from Council meetings for the past several months.

Letter Of Thanks

Clerk Roy Cashdollar was instructed to write Mrs. Turner, thanking her for her services. Council will receive applications for the solicitor post until Tuesday night at 7:30 when a special session will be held to appoint a replacement.

Council took no action on the petitions presented by Alvin Clutter Jr. of River Ave., who said there are three or four other petitions still out. He said, "I think about 400 more signatures could be obtained."

Council approved first reading last month on the proposed tax ordinances calling for a $3 tax for police service, $1.50 for street lighting and 75 cents each for the City Park and fire department.

The tax was proposed by the finance committee, which said the money is needed for city operations. It would provide $12,000 annually for three years.

No 'Ram-Rodding'

Clutter said, "The people would like to have the ordinances placed on a ballot and not ram-rodded down their throats by Council."

Clutter said, "Your one ordinance calls for three police officers which would take the $12,000 to be raised by the four ordinances."

Councilman Donald Chaney said, "We don't have to put on a third policeman," and explained

Hearing Set In Hancock's Tax Dispute

The second round in the hassle over the real estate reappraisal program in Hancock County is scheduled Thursday morning at 9:30 in Circuit Court in New Cumberland.

Eight Weirton property owners have challenged the reappraisal and won a temporary injunction in Circuit Court last week. The injunction prohibits the county and state from levying taxes on their properties.

Judge James G. McClure granted a temporary injunction to the complaining property owners April 8 and it expires Thursday.

The state tax commissioner and the attorney general's office filed a motion for dismissal and a hearing on the request will be held tomorrow morning.

The eight property owners seek court orders to bar Hancock County Court and the assessor from assessing their property with

Amendment Plus A Corollary

Whether Cubans in years to come will commemorate the anniversary of the Bay of Pigs is going to depend on whether the fiasco of April 17, 1961, finally is redeemed by a happy ending.

While awaiting the final outcome of Russian success in setting aside the Monroe Doctrine in Cuba and in challenging it through out the New World, all who are hopeful of finally resolving the issue in favor of the United States might reflect profitably on the price of popularity.

From the Spanish-American War up to the New Deal — from Roosevelt I to Roosevelt II — the United States was cordially mistrusted by all Latin American governments and hated by most of them.

THIS WAS because an amendment to an Army appropriations bill — the Platt Amendment — barred Cuba from entering into treaties with foreign powers that would impair its independence and gave the United States the right to intervene "for the preservation of Cuban independence, maintenance of a government adequate for the protection of life, property and individual liberty" and the discharge of certain general obligations.

The amendment was terminated in 1934 when the Roosevelt New Deal was angling for "good neighbors" in Latin America.

Under President Theodore Roosevelt still another safeguard was preserved — the Roosevelt Corollary to the Monroe Doctrine. It was the right of the United States to exercise police power in "flagrant cases of wrongdoing or impotence."

Both the Platt Amendment and the Roosevelt Corollary caused the United States to be mistrusted and reviled. It was generally believed to be a giant stride forward when the "good neighbor" policy replaced them.

BUT THE FACT is that the United States is unable under a "good neighbor" policy to break out of the sack in which it has been bagged by the Communist conspiracy in Cuba.

Under the amendment and the corollary, it long since could have done what it now is unable to do and is seemingly unwilling to let Cubans themselves do. It could have taken action to rid Cuba of troops of a foreign power — a flagrant case of wrong doing.

This has become, in fact, the most sensitive aftermath of the Bay of Pigs fiasco — the possibility it may have been a fiasco by intention because nonintervention as a long range policy for Latin American may now have precedence over the shortrange desirability of getting Russian militarism out of Cuba.

More Chaff Than Wheat

Now that the Ohio House of Representatives has called a halt to bill introductions — action that could have been taken weeks ago — it can concentrate on separating the wheat from the chaff.

History shows there always is a heap more chaff than anything else in Ohio's legislative process. Traditionally, only about one-fourth of the bills introduced ever find their way into Ohio's lawbooks.

More than 700 of the 950 bills introduced this year will die somewhere along the legislative route. Few of those will have been worth the effort.

A big share of the inconsequential stuff comes from legislators who feel it is their obligation to drop one in the hopper now and then for the folks back home, even though they know it may never get as far as a committee hearing.

SOME OF THE bills that get nowhere are appealing measures, such as the one that would have required litter containers in all automobiles.

Does The Pup Have Fun?

The mighty steel industry suggests no comparison with a playful pup until it starts chasing its own tail.

Because the heads of steel producing units needed more profit to catch up to costs, they welcomed a chance to raise prices.

Their chance to raise prices came when consumers of steel began to pile up inventory, fearing a steel strike this coming summer. Steel production began to hum. There was mild competition for the steel supply.

This gave steel management an excuse to announce selective price increases. The pup began to chase its tail.

AS THE PRICE increases take effect, they will give the steel union the excuse it needs to go after more wage and fringe benefits.

As the union goes after more wage and fringe benefits, steel management will need still more price increases to pay for them.

As still more price increases take effect, competition by steelmakers abroad and by manufacturers of competing products at home will move in on still more of the market for steel manufactured in the United States.

The steel industry, now with its tail firmly in its teeth, will slow down from fatigue and self-inflicted pain.

Meanwhile, the Kennedy administration, a pretty good puppy-tail chaser in its own right, will wonder why the steel industry isn't setting new speed records.

THE STEEL union is concerned about declining employment in the industry. Steel management is worried about the return on its investment.

Yet, no one knows how to break out of the puppy-tail-chasing circle. It is a tragic round of frenzy and frustration.

Come to think of it, maybe that's the way it is for a pup, too. What strikes onlookers as funny may be unmitigated tragedy for pups that don't know how to keep chasing their own tails. They are victims of instinct, unrestrained by reason.

There's no future in it, the present is painful and the past was futile—so off they go again!

Princesses And Pop

At the opening of another grass season, I think back with disbelief about one of my ambitions as a teen-ager.

I wanted to get a summer job mowing lawns on an estate situated a few miles outside the town where I grew up.

My hankering for the job came from experiences with grass-mowing on our own place, which was in town, and on my uncle's place in the country. Both had large lawns.

I enjoyed mowing grass so much that a summer of doing nothing else struck me as a fine idea. Six days of doing what I liked to do each week, except when it rained! What could be finer?

What makes it ridiculous is the fact power mowers were almost unknown. In rare instances gang mowers were pulled around by tractors, but only on golf courses.

Estate lawns were done by hand, at least around our part of the country. The prospect of mowing grass with a hand-pushed mower six days a week was pleasant compared with the prospect of doing the other things that loomed on the horizon.

If it wasn't going to be grass it was going to be digging, and if it didn't turn out to be digging it was going to be shoveling. It was digging, some of it on the same estate where the grass was being mowed by somebody else.

For reasons too numerous to tick off it's harder all the time for teen-age boys to find work in the summertime, and I almost could wish it had been harder to find work in my summertimes.

It was taken for granted that within a few days after school was out I would start the summer job my old man had lined up for me and work until the Saturday night of the last week before school began. I never had a summer vacation.

Odd Facts

Cork is the outer bark of a species of oak, "Quercus Suber", growing in the south of Europe and in the north of Africa. The tree grows to a height of from 2 to 40 feet and yields bark every six to 10 years for 150 years.

Message From Pope Applies To World

By DAVID LAWRENCE

There was applause from many people of all faiths for the document issued a few days ago by Pope John XXIII entitled "peace on earth." This was primarily because it called for the establishment of a better world order and better moral standards than prevail today. Yet due to the necessity of using abstract phrases, several parts of the papal encyclical did not receive as wide a reading as they deserved, nor was their significance fully appreciated.

What Pope John said about the organization of a political community has a very important bearing on the internal problems faced today by many countries which are striving to improve what is known as their political society.

THE MORAL DECAY of government — the readiness of the politicians to practice deception, bribery and distortion of the truth in order to gain their ends — is nowadays one of the most serious barriers to honest government. Pope John wrote:

"A political society is to be considered well-ordered, beneficial and in keeping with human dignity if it is grounded on truth. . . . It is no less clear that today, in traditionally christian nations, secular institutions, although demonstrating a high degree of scientific and technical perfection, and efficiency in achieving their respective ends, not infrequently are but slightly affected by Christian motivation or inspiration.

"It is beyond question that in the creation of those institutions many contributed and continue to contribute who were believed to be and who considered themselves Christians and without doubt, in part at least, they were and are.

"How does one explain this? It's our opinion that the explanation is to be found in an inconsistency in their minds between religious belief and their action in the temporal sphere. It's necessary, therefore, that their interior unity be re-established, and that in their temporal activity faith should be present as a beacon to give light, and charity as a force to give life.

"It's our opinion, too, that the above-mentioned inconsistency between the religious faith, in those who believe, and their activities in the temporal sphere, results—in great part if not entirely—from the lack of a solid Christian education."

POPE JOHN dealt with the very delicate subject of the relations of church and state, but emphasized that it was an individual judgment that has to be made as to the merits of governmental action or lawmaking. He wrote:

"Since the right to command is required by the moral order and has its source in God, it follows that, if civil authorities legislate for or allow anything that is contrary to that order and therefore contrary to the will of God, neither the laws made nor the authorizations granted can be binding on the consciences of the citizens, since God has more right to be obeyed than men. Otherwise, authority breaks down completely and results in shameful abuse. . . .

"It must not be concluded, however, because authority comes from God, that therefore men have no right to choose those who are to rule the state, to decide the form of government and to determine both the way in which authority is to be exercised and its limits. It's thus clear that the doctrine which we have set forth is fully consonant with any truly democratic regime."

THE SAME encyclical dealt with human rights in a variety of circumstances, but the broad principles were stated in part as follows:

"Human beings have the natural right to free initiative in the economic field, and the right to work.

"Indissolubly linked with those rights is the right to working conditions in which physical health is not endangered, morals are safeguarded and young people's normal development is not impaired. . . .

"The right to private property, even of productive goods, also derives from the nature of man. This right, as we have elsewhere declared, is a suitable means for safeguarding the dignity of the human person and for the exercise of responsibility in all fields; it strengthens and gives serenity to family life, thereby increasing the peace and prosperity of the state."

PERHAPS THE MOST significant portion of the papal encyclical was the reference to totalitarianism, and yet the word "totalitarian" was not used anywhere in the document. The Pope wrote:

"Where the civil authority uses as its only or its chief means either threats and fear of punishment or promises of rewards, it cannot effectively move men to promote the common good of all. Even if it did so move them, this would be altogether opposed to their dignity as men, endowed with reason and free will.

"As authority is chiefly concerned with moral force, it follows that civil authority must appeal primarily to the consciences of individual citizens, that is, to each one's duty to collaborate readily for the common good of all. Since by nature all men are equal in human dignity, it follows that no one may be coerced to perform interior acts."

This papal encyclical was utterly unlike most of the Vatican's pronouncements of the past in the sense that very little was devoted to a particular faith. In fact, it was more a declaration of constitutional principles that could govern a free world. It will take its place as one of the most outstanding encyclicals ever issued by the Pope at Rome.

Hot Dog Strike Angers Labor Secretary

By VICTOR RIESEL

It's a sign of the times in this politically hyperthyroid town that the hot dog replaced the Metropolitan Opera House as a symbol.

The frankfurter became the last straw, if I may mix a metaphor, for the angered Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz.

The hot dog picket line in front of the Washington ball park on opening day led Mr. Wirtz to determine to close an era — the era of coddling labor crises, of wet-nursing labor and management disputes, of a labor secretary, a member of the Cabinet spending most of his time as a business agent.

Wirtz is publicity shy. But he has a whim of iron. He is determined to impress on President Kennedy, with whom he has not yet had too much contact, that the solution to the growing series of labor crises and problems is to permit free, untrammeled labor-management collective bargaining without the White House interfering.

HIS POSITION simply is that if both sides know that the President or the secretary of labor won't intervene in a labor-industry showdown, there will be fewer and shorter strikes.

Wirtz believes strongly he is right. But if he is proven wrong and there are crippling strikes such as the waterfront and newspaper stoppages, then he is for federal legislation to provide some form of combined mediation and arbitration.

It will be recalled that Arthur Goldberg, then secretary of labor, got into the Metropolitan Opera House-Musicians' Federation feud at the White House's direct request. Mr. Goldberg did the best he could in a rather silly position. But he had the Met's great cultural tradition as an excuse.

Mr. Wirtz had only the hot dog and the soda pop and the fact that the President could not ignore the opening of the national pastime. Dwight D. Eisenhower did that once and barely got through unscathed politically.

FEW KNOW how enormously time consuming the hot dog crisis was and how many national leaders it involved. Here for the first time is the full story.

When it first became known that the Hotel and Restaurant Employees vendors' local (which also covers many government cafeterias) was planning to picket the Washington Stadium and prevent President Kennedy's attendance at the ball game, AFL-CIO president George Meany lifted the telephone.

The leader of over 12 million workers asked the leader of several hundred vendors and cafeteria workers to withdraw their picket line and there would be fair mediation. The local's leaders refused to budge.

Then William Simkin, head of the Federal Mediation Service, tried. He failed. Then came calls from the White House. The secretary of labor then took precious time out of a bushful of crises — any one of which could affect the economy of the land — to handle the wiener showdown.

AT THAT MOMENT Mr. Wirtz was in contact with labor and management executives in the steel industry. He and the President were and are eager to show the value of steel's Human Relations Committee type of pre-crisis dialogue in maintaining labor peace.

Mr. Wirtz was also in constant touch with three rail labor crises: the national conflict, which may yet result in an area-wide strike; the long Florida East Coast rail strike; and the controversy on the Southern Railway System.

Mr. Wirtz had been talking to leaders of the United Rubber Workers, who are in earnest in their threat to strike the rubber industry — which in turn is tied into the aerospace and missile defense complex.

Mr. Wirtz was talking to leaders of the machinists union and Boeing. A strike there, he realized, could cripple the Minuteman missile production, work at Cape Canaveral and development of the space war craft known as the Dyna-Soar.

UPCOMING too were developments in the auto field and the beginning of irritations between General Electric and Jim Carey's electrical workers, whose contract negotiations must soon begin.

At the time the hog dog emergency was thrown to him, Wirtz had put in seven months as labor secretary. He had spent months on four major strikes.

In his spare time he had been tightening up the massive Labor Department. Despite all this he had to take time out to reach Ed Miller, international head of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees. Miller called the local's leaders. They agreed to open their picket line for President Kennedy if they would get top mediation.

At 11 o'clock the day following the season opening they were in Wirtz' office. The issue? The vendors had been receiving 10 per cent commission on sales of score cards and pencils and 15 per cent for hot dogs and soda pop. They wanted 20 per cent across the board.

Wirtz got no place with either side. So they were turned over to Stephen Schlossberg, who had represented the government in the New York news strike.

To Wirtz the hot dog denouement is not funny. Small locals now are doing what national unions have been doing. He sympathized with the vendors. But he could not permit the ball game to usher in the silly season in labor relations.

He decided the time had come to stop wet-nursing the labor-management field.

Rockefeller's Attack

By Joseph R. Slevin

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is hitting President Kennedy where it hurts the most.

The New Yorker is hammering on the President's failure to carry out his campaign promise to "get the country moving again." He issued a lengthy economic statement at the Omaha Airport recently and he immediately moved to the attack again at a press conference here last week.

"What did you tell the Republican members of the House?" a reporter asked as the press conference began.

"Well, I talked to them about my deep concern for the need for increased jobs in this country, the need to stimulate the growth in our economy," the Governor replied quickly.

MR. ROCKEFELLER believes the sluggish economy will be the key campaign issue in the 1964 President election. There is a big gap between Mr. Kennedy's promises and his performance and the governor intends to call it to the attention of the voters every chance that he gets.

The hard-running, but undeclared candidate for the GOP nomination is following the same strategy that Mr. Kennedy successfully pursued in 1960. He is talking about the dark spots instead of the bright spots and is assuring the country that he can solve the problems that are tripping the man in the White House.

The big difference between Rockefeller today and Kennedy in 1960 is that Mr. Rockefeller is promising less than Mr. Kennedy promised — and is promising less than he would have promised himself if he had been the 1960 candidate.

The governor now says that the U.S. must create 20 million new jobs in the next five years and declares that achieving the goal will require that the economy grow at an average yearly pace of 4 1/4 per cent.

MR. KENNEDY cautiously avoided setting a precise growth target while he was campaigning but he embraced a 4 1/2 per cent goal after he entered the White House. The 1960 Democratic platform calls for a 5 per cent growth pace and Gov. Rockefeller exuberantly tried to persuade the GOP platform writers to adopt a goal of 5 to 6 per cent.

The economy grew at a disappointingly slow rate of 3.6 per cent during Mr. Kennedy's first two years in office. He predicted in January that the expansion pace will slow to 3 per cent this year.

Unemployment, as Mr. Rockefeller reminds the voters, is sticking at an uncomfortably high 5.6 per cent. It is far above the 4 per cent "interim full employment goal" that Mr. Kennedy once set as his target for mid-1963.

THE GOVERNOR has a program that he says will produce 20 million jobs and 4 per cent growth rate. He wants to cut taxes $10 billion at once instead of following the Kennedy plan of spreading a net cut of $8.7 billions over a 30-month span. And he wants to eliminate the Kennedy tax reform proposals, including a $1.5 billion annual speed-up in corporate income tax payments.

Candidate Rockefeller is keeping a close eye on the more conservative voters, too. He contends that Federal spending should be held at this year's $93.4 billion volume, not lifted to a record high of $98.8 billion next year as Mr. Kennedy has proposed.

The governor says the cash budget can be balanced the year after next and then — after that — there will be a surplus that can be used to reduce the public debt.

Tax Delayed As Solicitor Gives Up Post

that money from the general fund now used for police and other services would be released by the new taxes for street improvements.

Chaney declared, "If you are going to fix the streets, you might as well as fix them right. When people pay for a job, it should be done right. It's up to the people if they want good streets."

Cites Solicitor Need
In reference to the ordinances, Councilman Donald Hissam said, "I'm not going to vote on anything until we have a solicitor."

Councilman Wayne Hutton commented, "It seems we have done business without a solicitor."

Cashdollar had advised Council advertising of the ordinances in newspapers, as proposed in the ordinances, is not absolutely required.

He referred to House Bill 263, effective in March, permitting public notice of an ordinance posted in a conspicuous place for five days in place of publication in two county newspapers of opposite party views.

Amendment Required
This would require amendment of the ordinances. Cashdollar said, "A week's delay is not going to hurt anything. Get a solicitor, and then take action. We want to do things legally."

Council also delayed action on proposed new flat rates for water customers, to be submitted to the Public Service Commission, until a solicitor is named.

Hutton, chairman of the sewer and water committee, said the proposed schedule is a $4 quarterly base rate, plus 75 cents for each person up to six in a home and 50 cents for the number of persons over six in a home. The maximum charge would be $9.50, he said.

The city presently has a number of metered customers and a flat rate for others. The new system would provide for a citywide flat rate system.

Owners To Be Liable
Hutton said property owners will be held responsible for rented property where tenants move and do not pay the water bills.

A discussion was held on bids received from the Tri-State Asphalt Co. for improvement of three city streets — Louisiana Ave. from 3rd to 4th Sts., $17,000; Leander Dr., $7,000, and 11th St. to the T.K. Roofing Co., $18,000. The work would provide for 2-inch thick blacktop with concrete curbs and gutters.

It was pointed out Council did not ask for the bids. Councilman Charles Kology said he believes street estimates should be brought before Council.

Chaney said he is a member of the street committee and in the absence of Councilman Carl Graham, chairman, he took a representative of the Tri-State firm along with Street Commissioner Hubert Myers to obtain the estimates.

Prefers Estimates

He said he wants to get an idea how much "good blacktop would cost." Kology replied, "We always discussed street projects in Council meetings."

Hissam said, "committees are only permitted to spend $50." Chaney said, "proper street work would cost $20 a person instead of the $6 tax we propose."

Kology stated, "There has been much street improvement without a head tax."

Clutter said the residents of River Ave. "put the street in themselves, and the city has not spent anything to maintain it."

Hutton said, "there are only two ways to raise money — by property taxation or by special levy assessment. I understand the state doesn't permit a wage tax."

Pay Raises Granted

In other action, Council authorized an increase in the wages of street laborers and extra police from $1.50 to $1.80 an hour, and decided to obtain bids for installing new floors in the firemen's clubroom.

At the suggestion of Chaney, Council authorized steam cleaning of the engines of the two fire trucks at a cost of $10 each.

The change to Daylight Saving Time April 28 was authorized, with the expiration date to be decided later.

Hutton reported fire hydrants have been flushed, repairs made to the reservoir of the water department, and notices mailed to delinquent water and sewer customers.

At the request of Jesse Gill, who resides in a house owned by the water department on Pan Ave., Council authorized him to erect a garage.

City To Be Billed
Council agreed to have the city as the billed customer for a new mercury vapor light to be erected at an outdoor basketball court at the Chester High School by the Student Council.

A cheaper rate will be available for a municipality than for a private group, it was explained. The Student Council will pay for the light for a three-year period.

Chaney suggested the State Road Commission be notified of improper drainage of water on W. Carolina Ave. Chaney and Kology reported the need for repairs of holes in streets in their areas.

Elmer Robinson of Knowles Ln. complained there is no sewer in the street for water drainage and room for only one car to pass. He said he doesn't believe the cost of widening the street would be high.

Cashdollar read a letter from the tax commissioner's office, stating the city's 1963-64 levy estimate cannot be approved until the property reappraisal issue in Hancock County is settled.

The Missouri Synod's national convention here last June authorized negotiations aimed toward participation in an inter-synodical agency to replace the National Lutheran Council.

The plan is expected to be ready for presentation at the next convention in 1965 at Detroit. It also will be ready for ratification by the other bodies — the American Lutheran Church and the United Lutheran Church in America — which meet after that.

Bliss Sales Up But Income Dips

E. W. Bliss Co. had record sales in 1962, but net income dipped to $2,609,538 from $3,527,356 the previous year, the firm said in its annual report released at its Canton Headquarters.

Carl E. Anderson, president, told shareholders the reduction in net income — which was 92 cents a share compared with $1.26 a share in 1961 — "resulted from losses on a small number of fixed price government contracts entered into in 1961. The losses anticipated in completing these contracts in 1963 were charged against 1962 operations."

Bliss operates the Mackintosh-Hemphill Division in Midland and Pittsburgh.

The world's lowest average annual rainfall, .02 inch, is in Arica, Chile.

Party best: baked tomatoes filled with succotash. They look pretty and taste good. Ever serve piping-hot chili con carne (home-made or canned) over hot corn meal mush. Nice as a change from the usual accompaniment of soda crackers or rice. Add a tossed green salad and you've got your meal made.

The group sang "Showers of Blessings" and "He Leadeth Me" with Mrs. Juanita Ammon accompanist.

Mrs. Isabel Calhoun, vice president, announced the next meeting is May 20 with Mrs. Charlotte Keller and women of the First Church of Christ presenting the program and Mrs. Betty Barnard and those of the Glenmoor United Presbyterian Church, furnishing lunch.

Three tablespoons of butter will be plenty for pan-frying four bananas to serve as an accompaniment for chicken or shrimp curry.

money from the general fund. There are no assessments for the property-owners.
In other business, Council granted permission to Robert Lambright, 1400 Commerce St., to raise the elevation of his sidewalk and break the curb in front of his home for a driveway. The work is to be done under the supervision of Safety - Service Director Fred Baldasare.
Councilman Dwight MacLean suggested the west side of 9th St. from Commerce to Wood Sts. be designated as a no parking area. There is now a two-hour restriction. The street committee will study the recommendation.
Councilman Donald Miller asked the street committee to check a sidewalk on 5th St. between Commerce St. and Broadway, which is in need of repair.
A caucus session will be held Thursday night with officials of the Ohio Valley Gas Co. to discuss an increase in rates proposed by the utility.
Letters were received from C.R. Donaldson and the Miller Insurance Co. urging Council to retain Patrolman Robert Wellington on parking meter duty in the main business district and not hire a meter maid.
The letters were filed. Council generally agreed it has never gone on record favoring meter maids although the subject has been touched on once or twice.
MacLean said he would favor meter maids. Others pointed out even if a meter maid were hired, Patrolman Wellington would remain on the police force. DeLorenzo said now that the public knows Council and the city officials are aware of vandalism to the meters, the situation is somewhat better.
Council held a lengthy discussion on meter vandalism at the last meeting.
Stroble commented he is pleased with the proposal for a new Post Office in Wellsville. He said he is pleased with the location and the fact that it will be constructed without any additional taxes or increase in the city's indebtedness.
The Post Office Department said Friday it has optioned a site at 11th and Main Sts.
He then moved, seconded by Councilman Allen Baldwin, that a letter be sent Rep. Wayne L. Hays thanking him for his efforts in getting a new Post Office for the city.
MacLean said he had received a letter from Hays a month ago informing the Post Office situation was out of his hands. Miller said Council has gone on record "too many times about Post Offices." "I won't go on record or send anything to anybody," he said.
DeLorenzo said the letter should go to the postal authorities and not to an individual. Baldwin and Stroble favored the motion while Councilmen Kay Drago, MacLean, DeLorenzo and Miller opposed.
Councilman Robert Taggart was absent.
Miller, finance chairman, called a committee meeting for Monday afternoon at 1 to discuss prices for the purchase of radio equipment for the fire and police departments. They are to operate on different frequencies under a law which will go into effect this year.
Miller commented he had received a book from the state showing Wellsville is declining in population. He said the city as a whole should get together and work or "we will keep going downhill." East Liverpool also is going downhill, according to population figures, he said.

Mrs. Gene Calhoun of Buckeye Ave. asked Council when a water line can be extended to 18th St. Heights. She said she and her husband plan to build a home in the area. She also complained of privies in the area.
The water committee is to study her request.
Permission was granted the Jaycees to operate a Senior Rifle Club at the shooting range on the third-floor of City Hall on the alternate Tuesday nights from when Council meets.
The request was made by Walt Henthorn. The Jaycees sponsor a Junior Rifle Club that uses the range.

Stroble reported a crosswalk was painted at the 18th St. railroad crossing and yellow lines on the curbs along Main St. at the crossing to allow children to cross the street in safety.
The Rev. William Hewitt gave the opening prayer.

Injuries Claim Man After Stove Explosion
CINCINNATI (AP) — Injuries suffered in an oil stove explosion resulted in the death of Arthur Starks, 53, of Wilmington Tuesday.
Wilmington firemen said neighbors tried to coax Starks to jump from a second story window to escape from the fire Monday night. He refused and was rescued by firemen after suffering third-degree burns over 60 per cent of his body. He died in a hospital here.

WEIRTON — A hearing slated this morning for Robert L. Dougherty, 38, cited on five charges in connection with an attack on Hancock County Sheriff Joseph H. use of appraisal figures submitted by Cole, Laver & Trumble of Dayton.

Represented by Atty. Frank A. Pietrantoni, the complaining Weirton residents also ask that County Court sit as a Board of Equalization and Review again in order that protests on tax assessments may be reviewed.

The hassle has caused State Tax Commissioner G. Thomas Battle to delay final approval of levy estimates prepared by various levying bodies in the county in figuring their fiscal 1963-64 budgets.

Battle has advised clerks of Chester, Weirton and New Cumberland and the County Board of Education that their levy estimates cannot be given final approval until the question of the reappraisal is settled.

Battle and an assistant from the attorney general's office are expected to arrive in the county from Charleston tonight.

Jail Sentences Given
3 For Phone Lootings

The three also were ordered to make restitution for the damage to the Bell Telephone Co. of Pennsylvania.

Auto Mechanics
Reject Proposal

A flat rate wage proposal offered by the East Liverpool Auto Dealers Association was refused by the Ceramic City Auto Mechanics Local 1019 Tuesday night.

The union held a vote on the proposal at Carpenters Hall. Kenneth Schneidmiller, secretary, said the proposal was defeated by an overwhelming majority.

A discussion was held on striking, but action was delayed until the dealers can be contacted again. The union said it will offer the dealers another chance to hold negotiations.

The dealers have refused to sign the same type of contract that was in effect and will discuss only a flat rate proposal, the union claims.

The contract with the dealers expired March 23. Sanction has been received from the international union to hold a strike.

Tom Kelly is the local president. Previous negotiations with the dealers have resulted in "no progress."

Parked Cars Hamper
Street Cleaning Work

The city's mechanized sweeper was hampered severely by parked autos while cleaning downtown streets early today. Safety-Service Director Robert Owen was advised by Street Supt. W. M. Laughlin.

The director pointed out an ordinance restricting parking in areas where the sweeper works at night went into effect Tuesday after it was signed by Mayor Bert H. Goodballet. He asked householders to familiarize themselves with the regulations and keep their cars clear of streets on which the sweeper is scheduled to work. The affected streets are posted with metal signs.

"Moving the cars is for the householders' own benefit," the director commented. "The sweeper cannot do a thorough job if parked autos interfere."

Tigers Whip Yank's; McDowell Hurls 2-Hitter For Tribe

Twins Win In 13 Innings; New Record Set

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Even for a pitcher, Hank Aguirre of the Detroit Tigers is a lousy hitter. Most of the time he might as well leave his bat in the rack.

Last year was typical. Aguirre hit .027. He was up 75 times and struck out 46. Once he grounded into a doubleplay, which is pretty good for him.

He got two hits. One came off Hal Reniff of the New York Yankees, who was promptly sent to the minors.

Against the Yankees Tuesday, Aguirre got his first hit of the new season, and his ninth in nine years in the majors.

It went about 10 feet down the third base line, but it came with the bases loaded. Yankee third baseman Clete Boyer, apparently

Allen, 2 Other Twins Celebrate Birthdays

ST. PAUL, Minneapolis (AP) — Three Ohioans playing with the Minnesota Twins celebrated their birthdays Tuesday and were presented cakes prior to the game with the Los Angeles Angels.

They are third-baseman Rich Rollins, 25, of Parma, second-baseman Bernie Allen, 24, of East Liverpool and rookie pitcher Gerry Roggenbuck, 23, of Cleveland.

Allen played an important part in Minnesota's marathon victory over Los Angeles. The Angels had taken a 10-9 lead in the 13th inning when he singled to drive in Jim Hall from second base to tie the score at 10-10. The Twins went on to win the contest in the 13th.

Allen had three hits in six trips to the plate including a triple and drove in two runs.

startled by this offensive display, picked the ball up and threw it away. Before the dust had settled three runs were home.

The Tigers went on to whip the Yankees 7-2 and move into a three-way tie for first place in the American League.

The Kansas City Athletics gained a share of the lead with the Tigers and Yankees by winning their fourth straight, 7-4 over the Chicago White Sox. All three teams have 4-2 records.

In other American League games, Cleveland shut out the Washington Senators 3-0 on Sam McDowell's two-hitter, the Boston Red Sox set back the Baltimore Orioles 6-1 and the Minnesota Twins won a weird game from the Los Angeles Angels, 11-10 in 13 innings.

Gino Cimoli carried the big bat for the Athletics, with three RBI, and lefty Ted Bowsfield scored his first victory, with ninth-inning relief from John Wyatt.

McDowell, another of the bright young men on the Cleveland roster, pitched his first complete game in the majors, striking out 13. McDowell, a 20-year-old left-hander, was matched by Claude Osteen of the Senators until Woodie Held hit a leadoff homer in the seventh.

Dick Stuart made his Boston debut, and immediately made friends with the cozy left field wall. His three-run homer off Rob in Roberts in the sixth inning was the big blow behind Bill Monbouquette, who spun a five-hitter.

There were some strange goings-on at Minnesota, where the Angels and the Twins struggled for 4 hours and 47 minutes. The Angels used nine pitchers, the Twins eight, for a major league record of 17. There were nine errors, six by the Angels, and 33 hits.

Five times the Twins overcame Angel leads. Eli Grba, the ninth Angel hurler, walked home the winning run with the bases full in the 13th.

Sam Told To Forget Control, Throw Hard

CLEVELAND (AP) — "Forget about control and everything else and just throw the ball hard," Cleveland Manager Birdie Tebbetts told Sam McDowell when the 20-year-old southpaw loaded the bases and ran the count to 2-0 on Chuck Hinton in the second inning.

The fire-balling pitcher took the advice perfectly, struck out Hinton for the third out and went on to pitch a two-hitter as the Indians beat the Washington Senators 3-0 Tuesday night. Woodie Held and John Romano slammed homers to provide winning punch.

McDowell struck out 13 as he pitched his first complete game in the majors.

"After Birdie came out I followed his advice and just threw the ball," McDowell said later. "I seemed to loosen up. The first

Dash Sets Shot Put Record In Tiger Cinder Victory

Wellsville High's track team recorded its first victory Tuesday at Nicholson Stadium, edging United, 62-56.

Husky Andy Dash shattered the school record in the shot put and Mark Leyda won three events to highlight the win by Coach Ken Woods' Tigers.

Heaving the shot 49 feet, 10 and three-quarter inches, Dash bettered by two inches the former record held for several years by Vince DeFilippo.

Leafs Remain 1 Game Away From Title

DETROIT (AP)—Punch Imlach, gabber but ever with his Toronto Maple Leafs one victory from clinching hockey's Stanley Cup, left a few words morsels for the Detroit Red Wings to ponder today.

"If my players don't beat them Thursday and win this thing, they're a bunch of do-heads," he excluded the jaunty coach after the Leafs bounced Detroit 4-2 Tuesday night and took command of the cup finals 3-1.

"Whenever Detroit beats us, we're not playing our best," said Imlach.

"And my Dave Keon is the best player in the National League. I wouldn't trade him for anybody. Not even their Gordie Howe."

"Why should I? My kid's only 23 and he does everything. Howe's 35. With those ages, it wouldn't be a very good trade for Toronto. And look at the way he went in for that goal."

Imlach machine gunned his words at a clip faster than Keon's solo burst on the game-winning goal. The little forward seized a loose puck at center ice and streaked in to break a 2-2 tie with less than 11 minutes left. He slipped around two Red Wings for the goal—and he scored it without even shooting.

"He missed the puck when he tried to cut across the goal mouth and it hit my Normie Ullman's skate and trickled in," said Sid Abel, the Red Wing coach.

Keon agreed.

"I never got the shot off," he said.

Ed Mathews New Member Of 400 Club

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Milwaukee third baseman Ed Mathews set his sights higher as a member of baseball's 400-homer club today while recalling how his first four-base blast nailed down a steady job with the Braves 11 years ago.

"I broke in with the Braves in Boston in 1952 and there were reports that our manager, Tommy Holmes, was planning to platoon me if I didn't start hitting left-handed pitchers," Mathews said. "Then I hit a homer with two on off Ken Heintzleman, a southpaw, April 19 in Philadelphia and the platoon talk ended."

The 31-year-old Mathews became the eighth player in major league history to hit 400 homers when he hoisted a 2-1 pitch by Philadelphia reliever Jack Hamilton into the right field bleachers.

Cleveland Brewing Concern Sets $200,000 Golf Tourney For 1964

NEW YORK (AP)—Mothers, do you want your son to become a financial success? Forget stocks and bonds. Steer clear of oil and big steel. Don't bother with the diamond mines in Johannesburg. Give the boy a set of golf clubs, teach him to swing and put him on the professional tour.

This is the newest shortcut to the U.S. mint.

A Cleveland brewing concern announced plans Tuesday for a new tournament to be inaugurated in August 1964. It will have a total purse of $200,000—the richest in golf history—with $35,000 going to the winner and $17,000 to the runnerup.

The event, with full sanction of the Professional Golfers Association, is aimed at putting tournament golf on a worldwide scale—open, as the announcement put it, to amateurs and professionals regardless of race, creed or color. Qualifying tests will be held on every continent—probably in remote places like Nairobi and the Fiji Islands—to pick selected foreign players who will test their skills against the highly publicized American stars such as Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Sam Snead.

The most intriguing figure of the PGA's newest tournament is not the format, however. It is the dough—the pot of gold.

A race apparently has developed among sponsors to see which can establish the fattest purses.

The result is that dollars are cascading like small rivers into the pockets of the touring pros. The boys never had it so good.

The recent Masters Tournament at Augusta had a record purse of $112,500, of which winner Nicklaus got $20,000. A $125,000 tournament has been set Oct. 3-6 in Philadelphia. There's a $100,000 event at Cleveland and a $100,000 one at the Westchester Country Club. A $50,000 first prize goes to the winner of TV's World Series of Golf.

It's getting so the pros turn up their noses at a $20,000 tournament. Yet only a quarter of a century ago, the leading money winner was lucky to make $10,000 a year.

Arnold Palmer last year made more than half a million dollars through golf and its fringe benefits. Rookie Jack Nicklaus cleaned up approximately $250,000. The $50,000-plus men were numerous.

Midland Nips S. Side On Vanlier's Key Hit

The Midland Leopard baseball nine staged a brilliant seventh inning comeback to defeat the South Side Rams, 5-4, in the Section 4 thriller played at Midland Tuesday afternoon.

Paul Farnan's Leopard outfit now has won two of their three section tilts while Don Chewing's Rams nine has dropped two of their first three contests.

The big blow of the game was delivered by Midland second sacker Norman Vanlier with the bases full in the seventh frame. Vanlier slammed the three-and-two delivery of relief pitcher Mick Dawson up the middle, sending the tying and winning runs across the plate.

Midland had entered the final frame on the short end of a 4-1 count, but four walks by Ram starter Dave Trimble and Dawson, plus timely base hits by Gary Shannon and Vanlier, enabled the Leopards to capture the win.

Catcher Jim Hartly sparked the Leopard attack with two singles in three trips to the plate. Shannon, Sam Zigerelli and Obrad Cvetovich all reached Trimble for two-base hits.

Dawson was the individual star in the Ram lineup, collecting three hits in four trips to the plate. He had the only extra base blow of the game for South, a double in the fifth frame.

Henry Slappy was the starting hurler for Midland and he went five innings before giving way to Ron Brown, who was the winning pitcher.

Slappy gave up four runs, three of them unearned, four hits and he walked five Ram batters and struck out four.

Brown, in his two innings on the hill, gave up only two singles while whiffing two batters. He did not issue a free pass.

Trimble labored 6 1-3 innings on the mound, giving up four runs, six hits while walking five batters and striking out seven.

Dawson, who faced only three batters, was the losing pitcher. He did not retire anyone and was charged with one run, one hit and two free passes.

Today, Midland will entertain the league-leading Rochester Rams. Thursday afternoon, South Side will face the New Brighton Lions at home.

School Board Airls Cutbacks In Fund Lack

LISBON — Cutbacks in extra classes because of reduced state funds were discussed by the Columbiana County Board of Education Tuesday night.

Dan Furey of Hanover, member of the board, discussed the extras now provided students in the four county schools, asked if all are necessary and which are being discontinued because of the curtailed state subsidy.

Supt. James L. McBride read the list of cutbacks being made in Beaver Local School District because its funds have been reduced approximately $16,000.

The board also discussed the recent report made by Ohio University for the betterment of the county office and in the role it plays for the four county school systems.

Most of the recommendations in the report were taken from nationally known educators' books on the operation of county offices and schools but made no report on the job being done in this county.

Supt. McBride reported representatives of the four schools will visit the surplus warehouse in Columbus April 24.

Furey also questioned the value of these purchases. He said he knows one county school has surplus equipment stored in a basement and is not being used. He questioned "if they just bought this stuff because they thought it is cheap." Supt. McBride said that it may be true of one school in county system but he believes the other schools "bought wisely and got out of the things they purchased."

Working for a resolution for voting in the Southern Local School District, for Franklin School District to merge with Carroll County, was discussed and Prosecutor G. William Brokaw will write the resolution. The board will certify it to the Board of Elections for a vote of all the Southern Local School District Nov. 5.

Fred Lohman, county attendance officer, reported he traveled 1,003 miles and made 31 home and 47 school calls and had five cases in Juvenile Court.

Bills of $932.08 were ordered paid. Next meeting is May 21 at 8:30 p. m.

Brooks, who also is a vice president of the East Liverpool Jaycees, said any kind of planning is needed, whether it be city or regional.

"No one knows just where to begin," he commented. Brooks then posed several questions for his audience such as "How does your town rate? Are streets paved and sidewalks in good condition? Are more than half of the church members under 40 years of age? What has the Kiwanis Club done for Chester?"

"Be proud of what you have and plan to make it better," he said. He commended the Chester

Key Club and the East Liverpool Jaycees.

Brooks said the Jaycees have spent $1,000 for a booklet which will be off the press Friday. The booklet, to be distributed in May, will explain the master plan to residents of East Liverpool.

Brooks utilized another booklet entitled, "Citizens' Planning Guide," in his talk.

He was introduced by Harry Comm, program chairman. James Boyd, William Shaffer and Jeff Oyster, Key Club members, were guests.

Shaffer and Boyd gave reports of the state Key Club convention April 12-13 at Blackwater Falls, W. Va. They thanked the club for its support.

Freeway Due Top Priority

CLEVELAND (AP)—The North-South Freeway—also known as Interstate 71—is going to get top priority with a target date of three years for its completion.

James W. Shocknessy, Ohio Turnpike Commission chairman appointed by Gov. James A. Rhodes to speed up completion of the highway, said Tuesday the road should be finished into downtown Cincinnati late in 1965 and into downtown Cleveland by the summer of 1966.

Shocknessy presented ground rules for finishing the super highway at a meeting of two dozen specialists in highway construction. Also attending the session at Turnpike headquarters were Gov. Rhodes and Atty-Gen. William B. Saxbe.

The governor said 70 per cent of all Ohioans would be affected by the completion of the freeway. Rhodes added:

"We are not going to let any individual, group or organization stand in the way of completion of this highway."

Shocknessy said there were "pockets of inertia to be overcome" and that he anticipated difficulty in achieving necessary land acquisition for completing the road project. He suggested negotiation be considered in acquiring private property.

Canton Trip Planned

Lions Club Delegation To Attend Convention

A delegation of eight members of the Lions Club, headed by George McCullough, district governor, and their wives will represent the East Liverpool club at the annual district convention Saturday at the American Legion Home in Canton.

Approximately 200 members and their wives from the 52 clubs in the seven-county district will attend the one-day session at which McCullough will preside. Registration will begin at 10 a. m.

The program will be highlighted by election of officers in the afternoon and a banquet at night at which Edward M. Lindsey of Lawrenceburg, Tenn., a past Lions International director, will speak.

Attending from the East Liverpool club besides Mr. and Mrs. McCullough will be Mr. and Mrs. Richard Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lowe, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Heasley, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Herman, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Duke, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Haugh and Mr. and Mrs. Richard McCullough. Walker has served as district public relations officer during the past year.

Gerald Leasure of Toronto, now senior deputy governor, is scheduled to be elevated to McCullough's post with Dr. John Snively of Minerva being advanced to senior deputy governor and governor-elect in 1964.

A new junior deputy governor will be elected. Men from Cadiz and Martins Ferry are seeking the post. Other nominations will be permitted from the floor.

McCullough will not relinquish his post until June 21 at the Lions International convention in Miami.

EDWARD LINDSEY
To Address District Lions.

The Alliance Lions will conduct a memorial service in the afternoon.

During the banquet, Lions will participate in a "parade of checks" with funds being used toward three projects sponsored by the Ohio Lions — Pilot Dog, Inc., of Columbus, eye research programs in the medical schools at Ohio State and Western Reserve University of Cleveland and School of Optometry at Ohio State, and a school project in Chotepo, Honduras.

Lindsey, who will address the banquet, was a member of the executive committee while serving as international director.

Subsidies Paid Hit $300 Million, Auditor Reports

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A report issued today by state Auditor Roger W. Tracy said subsidies paid out of the state's general revenue fund hit near the $300 million mark in the first three quarters of the fiscal year.

Tracy's report said the total distribution was $299,873,364, up $30,767,728 over the same period last year.

Of the total, the school foundation program, including transportation costs, accounted for $27,304,014 of the increase, while the general relief requirements climbed $3,328,845. Aid for the aged program was up $1,398,222 over last year, but the dependent children's program registered a drop of $2,994,214.

At the same time, the report said, general revenue expenditures for wages and salaries totaled $122,363,259, up $4,903,399 over last year.

16 U.S. Babies Seen Deformed By Thalidomide

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sixteen babies in the United States are believed to have been deformed by Thalidomide distributed by U. S. firms, the Food and Drug Administration reports.

In a final report on its intensive investigation of the drug that is held responsible for the birth of 7,000 deformed infants in Europe, the FDA said 2.5 million tablets were distributed in this country.

The investigators traced the tablets to 1,270 physicians and found that all but 29,000 of the 2.5 million had been given to patients, of whom 624 were pregnant women.

The FDA report, given to a house Appropriations Subcommittee last February and made public today, says an investigation is still under way to determine whether the William S. Merrell Co. of Cincinnati violated the law by the manner in which it distributed Thalidomide in this country.

Merrell's application for an FDA permit to market the tranquilizing drug was held up mainly because of the suspicions of Dr. Frances O. Kelsey of the FDA's Bureau of Medicine. She received the President's award for distinguished federal civilian service for her efforts.

West Germany is about the size of Oregon.

Democrats Open New Drive To Oust Chairman

CINCINNATI (AP)—Revolving Democrats have launched another drive to oust John A. Wiethe as Hamilton County chairman of the party.

The latest drive began Tuesday night when some 70 Democrats, including six office-holders, met in a downtown restaurant. They adopted a resolution charging the present party leadership with being more interested in keeping control than in winning the party.

The rebels, led by Councilman John J. Gilligan, pleaded the formation of a separate organization "to bring into the Democratic Party all elements of the community devoted to Democratic principles."

Wiethe, whose term ends in May 1964, has survived similar attacks in the past. Gilligan and other critics have blamed Wiethe for the Democrats' poor showing in the 1962 general election when the Republicans regained control of the County Commission.

The new group probably will be called "Democrats United." The Democrats named a nine-man committee to recommend how the proposed reform organization should be set up.

Not Seeking Political Asylum

Top Red Concert Pianist, Wife Hiding In England

LONDON (AP)—Vladimir Ashkenazy, the Soviet Union's leading young concert pianist, and his wife were hiding somewhere in England today after announcing they had left the U.S.S.R. indefinitely to live in Britain.

The 25-year-old pianist insisted he was not seeking political asylum, saying, "I am a Russian and I love my country." But the impression here was that he had defected, as Leningrad Ballet star Rudolf Nureyev did in Paris in 1961.

Ashkenazy came to Britain on a concert tour last month and brought his wife and year-old son, Vladimir. He said the Soviet government had given him permission for an indefinite stay but he "turned to British authorities because we did not know when the Russian permission allowing us to stay in England might be revoked."

The Home Office said Ashkenazy's wife, Dodie, a native of Iceland, was a resident of Britain for 17 years before she married and had asked to be allowed to take up residence in Britain again. A Home Office spokesman said this was granted and, in accordance with normal custom, the same privilege was extended to her husband.

Mrs. Ashkenazy told a correspondent of the Icelandic newspaper Morgunbladi she had "never liked Russia, Russian habits or their way of life."

"I have hoped from the beginning to be able to leave Russia and take my husband and child to England," she said.

Mrs. Ashkenazy said she is expecting another child. Her father, Johann Tryggvason, is an orchestral conductor who lives in London.

Ashkenazy's position among young Soviet pianists was underlined last year when the Soviet government picked him to enter the second Tchaikovsky competition. The first Tchaikovsky prize was won in 1958 by an American, Van Cliburn, and the Russians wanted a Russian to get it. Ashkenazy divided the first prize with John Ogden, a Briton.

Ashkenazy, who is Jewish, made his debut in Moscow at 15, placed second in the Chopin competition in Brussels, the West's top musical prize.

Prices, Production 'Squeeze'

Chief Factor In Increase Of Farms' Size Revealed

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department said today various economic studies show that a major factor in the increasing size of U. S. farms is what it calls a squeeze between prices farmers receive and production costs.

"In order to cope with the cost-price squeeze, even the larger farmer generally will try to expand his business," the department said in a report.

The number of farms in this country has declined from 5,197,500 in 1952 to 3,688,100 in 1962, although the total amount of land in the farms has changed very little.

Yet, the report said, there appears to be limits to which farms can be increased and obtain economic production.

"The bigger the cotton farm, the more profitable — but only up to a point," the agency said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American consumer has increased the portion of his income spent for beef by 25 per cent during the last 30 years.

The Agriculture Department reports the average consumer now spends 2.5 per cent of his income for this meat. Thirty years ago he spent 2 per cent. Consumers average spending 19 per cent of their incomes for all foods.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Last year's big buildup of cattle and calves for feeding for the quality slaughter market continued to be reflected in feeding areas despite heavy marketings since the first of the year.

An Agriculture Department report showed today that 8,105,000 head were on feed in 28 major feeding states on April 1, an increase of 11 per cent over a year earlier.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm fire losses reached an all-time high of $175 billion in 1962.

Reporting this today, the Agriculture Department said these losses were 7 per cent greater than in 1961. The estimates were based on farm-fire loss experience of a sample of 226 farmers' mutual fire insurance companies in 27 states.

The first regular issue of a U. S. coin to bear the portrait of a person was the Lincoln one-cent piece in 1909. It was followed in 1932 by the Washington quarter, and the third portrait coin among the regular issues was the Jefferson nickel, first minted in 1938.

MACK THE KNIFE. Alfred Butler, left, and Eddie Mott feel 'sharply' about each other in this scene from a rehearsal for the South Side High School's Junior Class play to be given Friday night at 8 at the Hookstown school. Also cast in the play, "Rebel Without Cause," are Judy White, seated, and in rear Veda Campbell, Jim McMasters, Martin Malone, Bill Matchett and Donna Matchett. The play is based on the movie of the same name and will be presented in the school gymnasium.

Will Face Questioning

Austria Authorities Hold Eichmann's Collaborator

VIENNA (AP) — Erich Rajakovic, alleged collaborator of Adolf Eichmann, was taken into custody today by Austrian justice authorities.

Investigating Magistrate Kurt Forstner said Rajakovic was ordered held after questioning.

Forstner refused to disclose what Rajakovic said. He said he would have to question Rajakovic thoroughly "before I can get a clear picture."

The Justice Ministry is investigating to determine whether Rajakovic "aided and abetted in the murder" of Dutch and Austrian Jews during World War II. No charges had been filed against him.

Rajakovic is an Austrian citizen who has lived in Milan since the war as a businessman under the name of Raja. After the Austrian government began its investigation, he went to Switzerland.

Switzerland expelled him last week and he went to Munich. He disappeared there and did not come to light again until he arrived this morning at the Vienna court building.

Interior Ministry officials said they did not know when or how Rajakovic entered Austria.

Dr. Wilhelm Harster, who German newspapers have said was Rajakovic's immediate superior during the war, stepped down from his post as an adviser to the Bavarian Interior Ministry.

The Bavarian government announced Tuesday it was investigating allegations that Harster, an SS major general during the war, had a hand in the deportation of 100,000 Dutch Jews to extermination camps.

Harster, 59, asked the ministry to pension him because of ill health. He has been an official of the state government for six years. Officials said they knew of his past when they hired him.

Industrialist Pleads

Innocent To Evasion

CLEVELAND (AP)—Sydney L. Albert, Akron industrialist, pleaded innocent Tuesday before U. S. Commissioner Herbert A. Horn to charges of evading $1,309,484 in taxes in 1956 and failing to file an income tax return that year.

He was freed on $5,000 bond, pending a hearing May 16.

Albert appeared voluntarily at the office of the U. S. marshal in answer to a warrant issued by Commissioner Horn last Thursday. The government says Albert had income of $1,954,057 in 1956.

Judge Orders Restitution In Jobless Benefit Hearing

A 22-year-old Wellsville man who pleaded guilty to a charge he obtained $400 in unemployment benefits by fraud in the fall of 1962 was given a 90-day County Jail term today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, but the sentence was suspended on condition he makes restitution to the state.

Dane A. Dysert, 928 Center St., was named in an affidavit filed by George N. Blair, an investigator for the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation. After admitting the charge, which he said resulted from a misunderstanding of the law, Dysert testified in his own behalf and a statement in mitigation was made by his counsel, Atty. William L. Bush of Wellsville.

Judge Chertoff suspended the jail sentence on condition that Dysert files a report with the court every 30 days, listing the amount he has repaid to the state and showing whether he still is employed. The judge commented from the bench that he suspended the term because Dysert testified he has an opportunity to go to a new job with the Dravo Corp. Monday at Big Rapids, Mich.

Blair testified that Dysert obtained $50 a week for eight weeks by claiming he was unemployed, although he actually had a job. Most of the time Dysert collected benefits, he was employed by the Wellsville Board of Education, Blair told the court. His earnings totaled $466 in addition to the state benefits, Blair said.

Dysert's claim originally was filed July 16, 1962, the investigator said. As is the practice in such cases, the affidavit signed by Blair accused Dysert of a single violation — obtaining benefits for the week ending Aug. 25. It alleged that he "unlawfully and fraudulently claimed benefits from the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation by means of intentional false certification and misrepresentation."

Atty. Bush asked Blair if the defendant "gave a statement of the facts" to the bureau on Oct. 9. Blair replied the statement was given "after it had been discovered he had been working."

In his testimony, Dysert said he is not employed at present, although he has an opportunity to go to a job Monday with Dravo in the Michigan city. He said he has worked only five days since Feb. 9. He said he worked last fall as a laborer for the Wellsville school board after he had been laid off from his job at Dravo.

Dysert said he was given no information about the BUC regulations when he signed for the compensation.

"I figured that money was put there by the employer I had worked for and I was making use of it, as was intended," he said. Since the school board was not a "contributing employer" in the BUC program, he thought the action was proper, Dysert added. When he found from a fellow employee that the action was improper, he notified the unemployment office and the benefits were stopped, he said.

Questioned by Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper, he admitted he signed a form each week stating that he was not employed or self-employed in the preceding week.

In his plea in mitigation, Atty. Bush said his client recognizes "an obligation to pay the money to the state." He asked the court not to impose a penalty that would prevent Dysert from taking the job in Michigan.

"The court is of the opinion you knew you were doing wrong," the judge told the defendant before pronouncing sentence. "But I'm going to give you an opportunity."

Luther C. Parsons, 1015 Claiborne St., was arraigned today on a similar charge, alleging he obtained benefits fraudulently in the week of Sept. 8, 1962.

He asked an opportunity to obtain counsel and his case was continued until April 30 at 9 a. m. His bond was set at $200. No plea was entered.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Is there anything wrong with a wife who wants her husband to save his hugs and kisses for her alone?

I'm married to a man who is the warm, outgoing type. He says he often has an impulse to hug and kiss women friends or relatives and it is purely platonic — no implications whatever. I don't believe there is such a thing as a platonic hug or kiss between members of the opposite sex — even if it's only a peck on the cheek.

When my sister-in-law (or a friend or neighbor) greets my husband with a kiss, or hugs him on parting, I flame up inside. I've told him how I feel but it does no good. I've watched him carefully and usually the women kiss him first, but he is so responsive I'm sure he encourages it. If he pushed them away once or twice they would stop.

I would be very happy to hear your views on the subject. — HANDS OFF.

Dear Off: When you hear what my views are you won't be so happy.

A woman who doesn't believe in a platonic hug or kiss has a mighty sick approach to life. My best wishes for a speedy recovery.

Daughter's Dilemma

Dear Ann: I am 17 and pregnant. The baby is expected in September. I can't marry the baby's father for reasons which I won't go into here. After several days of soul searching I've decided to give up the baby for adoption.

My mother passed away 10 years ago and my father is going to remarry in July. I like his future wife very much and am happy for them both. The problem is this: They want to take my baby until I marry and can give the child a home. They promise to give the baby back when the time comes.

It's a great temptation because I'd give anything to see my child grow up. But I believe the baby would get a better break if he could start life away from me.

My relatives have filled me with so many stories about how I'll regret it if I give my baby away that my head is bursting. Please help me. — OLD WOMAN OF 17.

Dear 17: YOUR thinking is solid. Don't let anyone change your mind.

It's easy to say, "We'll give up the baby when the time comes" but it's not so easy to live up to the promise after the baby has become a part of the family.

Your father and his future wife undoubtedly believe they would be doing you a favor but I hope you will decline their kind offer and do what you feel is best for the baby.

Differs On Divorce

Dear Ann: I disagree violently with your words to the unhappy divorcee. She criticized the "weeping widows" and claimed divorcees have a much tougher time because they don't get the moral support and sympathy of their family and friends. You told her, "One thing is certain — the widow didn't have a choice."

Some divorcees don't have a choice either. When a husband in his middle 40s goes off his rocker for a younger and more attractive woman the wife is helpless. I know because it happened to me.

Perhaps some wives have the strength to take the insults and the slaps and punches, and present a smiling face to the world but I wasn't equal to it.

The only choice I had was to let him go or end up in a mental institution. If you are fair you'll print this. My name is—LEGION.

Dear Legion: No woman should put up with slaps and punches. I recommend separation when there is physical abuse and I have said so repeatedly. Divorce is a different matter.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Film On U.S. Space Program Screened At Rotary Meeting

A film pointing out some of the remarkable engineering accomplishments in the U.S. space program was screened by Ralph A. Finley at the Rotary Club's meeting Tuesday afternoon in the Travelers Hotel.

"Exploring By Satellite" illustrated in color the development of a satellite — from space laboratory to orbital flight over 2,000 miles high.

Packed with delicate instruments inside a shiny chrome ball, the finished satellite appeared similar to a lawn ornament with four projecting antennas.

The film showed the work of lab technicians placing the equipment inside the gold, silver and copper plated sphere. It included sensitive microphones for recording noise of collisions with star dust, thermometers for measuring extreme temperatures, and a miniature radio.

The satellite, fully packed, weighed only 21½ pounds. Weight of the maze of instruments inside was 17 pounds.

The sphere was launched into orbit atop a 222,000-pound rocket at Cape Canaveral. Besides the actual launch scenes, the film illustrated elaborate machinery at work tracking the sphere, one capable of 14,000 computations per minute.

Finley, vice president, obtained the film from the University of Illinois. John Griffith of East Liverpool High School was projectionist. Sidney C. Porter, Jr., president, presided.

JOHN CALLS THE TUNE

For the last two weeks John Perkins has been doing just that.

He does what he wants when he wants—that's a privilege of retirement.

Much of his time is spent with "the apple of his eye," one-year-old Sandy, who is something special in the Perkins' household. She is the only daughter and has five brothers.

"I've been looking forward to this," says John, who retired under Crucible's pension plan on April 1. "My fishing gear is ready and I'm anxious to get my garden planted."

Like many Crucible pensioners, John has long service with the company. He was a Midland works employe for nearly 38 years. Twenty-six of those years were spent in the Iron Foundry where he was a cupola-tender.

Here's Look At Principal Ones

Cuba Exile Organizations
In U.S. Total About 200

By WILLIAM I. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Lock five Cubans in a room, give them a political problem to solve and they will emerge with five organizations to do the job.

At least, that's how it seems to the outsider wandering about Little Havana, Miami's city within a city.

It is doubtful that anyone in Miami can say how many Cuban exile organizations exist. Estimates run as high as 200 or more. They come and go in bewildering confusion. Only about 30 deserve to be called organizations at all.

Each proclaims itself dedicated to the overthrow of Fidel Castro. There the unity ends and there seems not the vaguest chance they ever will be unified.

Today, Miami's Cuban exiles are up against a crisis which compounds their confusion, and leaves them in a tumult of frustration. The United States, apparently fearing a new and dangerous confrontation with the Russians, has taken firm steps to prevent hit-and-run forays against Cuba by the militant exile groups.

In turn, this brought about a crisis of relations between Washington and the ten organizations loosely banded together in the Cuban Revolutionary Council. This is the group formed in March 1961—with U.S. sponsorship—to mount the Bay of Pigs invasion which ended in fiasco just two years ago this week.

The organizations of militants which do the raiding and train for fighting number only five, as far as can be determined. Their total membership in the Miami area may be no more than a few hundred.

Alpha 66 is headed by Antonio Veciana. It is a small group claiming direct contact with underground fighters inside Cuba. It has been involved in four actions, either by itself or working with other groups.

Alpha 66 recently joined with the Second Front of Escambray for operational purposes. The Miami leader of the Escambray group is Andres Nazario Sargent. But one element of Alpha 66 split away from it for independent operations. It now calls itself Comandos 1—for libre, or free.

Working with the Alpha 66 group also is an organization called "The Escambray Front of the Anti-Communist Cuban Army." It is headed by Evelio Duque, 36, a veteran of Castro's revolution and later of guerrilla fighting against Castro.

The Revolutionary Student Directorate (DRE) is considered one of the most effective groups. Its Miami leader is Luis Fernandez Rocha. The DRE has branches in 42 of the United States, 13 Latin American countries and inside Cuba itself. Its members range in age from 16 to 29.

DRE leaders are intelligent, resourceful and courageous, but tend to lack the responsibilities which might cause older men to consider international consequences. The DRE was first to make an armed attack on Castro's Cuba.

Another group believed to be involved in active support of the underground in Cuba is the Junta Revolucionaria Cubana (JURE), whose Miami chief is Rogelio Cisneros. Its headquarters is in Puerto Rico. Its over-all chief is Manolo Ray, once a Castro lieutenant and a Castro Cabinet minister.

Most of the militant organizations, small in themselves, have assistance from others for fund collection and other chores. The DRE, for example, probably has 800 non-combat members in the Miami area as support in depth.

Jose Lanuza, DRE American affairs chief, told me he feared the United States would also place "economic pressure" on his organization to halt its flow of money. This seems to indicate that U.S. authorities are in a position to cut off sources of DRE funds.

Apart from the concern with the United States seems now to be viewing activities of these organizations, some sources in a position to know say it is unquestionable that many exile organizations have been infiltrated by Castro agents.

Keep In Trim

Weight Gain Need Not Follow Surgery

The power of an attitude is tremendous. Two years ago this Spring a reader wrote to ask for help in preventing a gain following surgery.

"I have been advised by my doctor that I must undergo a hysterectomy. Friends have warned me that such an operation inevitably results in extra weight. Is this fact or fiction? If fact, I'm hoping you can come up with a solution.

"Even though I have had five children in seven years, I have been able to keep my figure and I hope to continue to do so. Any help will be greatly appreciated," she concluded.

In reply I wrote a column to this effect: Thousands of women have this operation and a large majority of them do not gain unwanted pounds.

A WEIGHT GAIN is not obligatory. However, the fictional aspect of a gain after a hysterectomy has some basis in fact. Following such an operation, one may or may not burn fewer calories, but there is a change in the endocrine system.

Because of this change it is important to take preventive measures — control the calories and keep up physical exercise.

This reader has been thoughtful enough to report again. The news is good! She writes.

"It hardly seems possible that more than a year has passed since the doctor decided it was necessary to remove my uterus. At that time I wrote you asking if it was a foregone conclusion that I would lose my figure as friends had warned. You gave me assurance that such need not be the case.

"It has been well over a year now since the operation. When I first left the hospital I was heavier than when I went in. It was just as you had warned, all that good food and no opportunity or inclination to work off the calories. But, once home, and feeling well again, I took measures.

"With moderate exercise and common sense regarding the kind and portions of food I ate, I am now down to what I weighed in college, and that was (dare I admit it) one marriage, 5 children and 17 years ago! I particularly like your exercises in the "Away With Middle Spread" leaflet.

"Thank you so much for your encouraging, informative column. Assure women that a weight gain is not inevitable following a hysterectomy," she concluded.

I SALUTE this courageous homemaker! She made up her mind not to pile on pounds or lose her figure, and followed through with action. A study of psychology teaches us that the events in our lives are less important than our attitudes toward them.

Send a stamped, self-addressed, long envelope for "Away With Middle Spread" and "Choose To Lose Diet." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of The Review. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Hancock County Gets First Home Demonstration Agent

The Hancock County Extension Committee has hired a Fairmont woman as the county's first home demonstration agent.

She is Miss Mary Joann Howes, who graduated in January from Fairmont State College and has since been training in her field in Nicholas County.

Oliver Johnson, agricultural agent, said Miss Howes will work with Home Demonstration clubs in the county and other adult organizations connected with home economics.

The job of aiding the women's groups has been the dual role of the county 4-H club agent, Mrs. Ruth McPherson.

Hiring of Miss Howes followed a recommendation of Miss Helen Petrakis, former county 4-H Club agent. Miss Petrakis is supervisor of home demonstration agents for the Northern section of West Virginia.

Miss Howes will begin her new job in New Cumberland May 6, Johnson announced.

The Extension Committee met Tuesday and re-elected G. E. Walters as chairman and Mrs. Donald Glenn of State Route 2 near Chester, secretary. Others present were G. S. Myers, supervisor of agricultural agents, and Glenn Snyder, area 4-H supervisor.

Label Them Parks And Not As Dumps

MILFORD, Conn. (AP)—Don't call it a dump, George C. Lay, executive secretary of the Milford Planning and Zoning Board, warned Mayor Charles R. Iovino.

Lay wrote Iovino that any plans to use low lands first as dumps and later to develop them as parks should be labeled "parks under construction."

"This problem has been pointed out many times during the past 10 years," he wrote. "Several land-acquisition proposals were presented, but the mention of the word dump seems to put a dead stop to any consideration of any new site."

The minor league baseball record for number of home runs by a player in one season was set in 1954 when Joe Bauman, with the Roswell, N. M., team in the Class "C" Longhorn League, belted out 72 home runs in 138 games.

West Virginia's Kaycees To Hold Weirton Session

WEIRTON — For the first time in history, a statewide convention of the Knights of Columbus will be held in Weirton May 18-19.

The 61st annual convention will be held at the local Council's new home on Weirton Heights, starting at 10 a.m. Saturday, May 18, and ending at 5 p.m. Sunday, May 19.

The convention, which is being held during West Virginia's centennial year, will be dedicated to the late Archbishop John J. Swinton of Wheeling. Co-chairmen for the affair are John B. Sorrenti and Gaston Gianni, past grand knights of the local council.

As state deputy, Earl Beaumont will be in charge of business sessions.

From West Virginia, delegates and members from 18 Councils will attend the convention. The councils are located in Wheeling (two), Parkersburg, Elkins, Grafton, Charleston, Clarksburg, Fairmont, Huntington, Martinsburg, Bluefield, Weston, Moundsville, Morgantown, Williamson, Montgomery, St. Albans and Weirton. Also invited are members of councils in Burgettstown, Steubenville (two), Toronto and Mingo Junction.

Last year's convention was held in Martinsburg, W. Va.

Personal Income Hits Annual Rate Of $452.7 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP)—Personal income rose last month to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $452.7 billion, about $1.6 billion greater than in February, the Commerce Department reported.

As used by the department's economists, the term personal income means all types of payments to individuals — wages, salaries, dividends, interest, rents, etc.

Disposable income in terms of 1954 prices stood at a record of almost $1,850 per person, the department calculated. Disposable income is determined after making allowance for tax and price increases.

The report said gains in wages and salaries for the first three months of this year equalled the combined increase of the third and fourth quarters of 1962 and were largest since last year's second quarter advance.

Personal income for the first quarter of this year amounted to $452.1 billion at an annual rate, $20.1 billion ahead of the first quarter of 1962. The 1963 total, however, reflected stepped up payments on government life insurance dividends to war veterans during January.

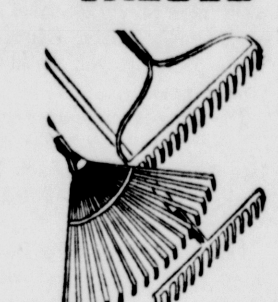

Louis Napoleon, in 1848, was the first President of France.

The Real Thing

You take one look at Joe McCormack and you say policeman, and you're almost right. He's a parole officer in Boston — a tall, trim man with a bald dome, a great slash of a smile across his gob, and nine children.

"When people ask their ages," he says, "I say, 'One through 10, inclusive.'" McCormack is still on the green side of 40. He is a nice man. And he's about to become a television star.

Alan Gill

At least, he will be prominently in evidence on "Show of the Week" Sunday night (10 p.m., Channel 3) in a documentary hour called "Prisoner at Large," walking through the role of Joe McCormack.

"Y'KNOW," he says, "they asked me to do something for them just once. They had me walking up a staircase five times."

"Everything else is the real thing. No sirens, no bells, just human relationships."

"They had the cameras on me on and off for three months, a good three days a week, from 10:30 in the morning to 8 at night, by cripes. I rather enjoyed it."

"And the NBC News guys under Bill Jersey showed tremendous compassion for the kid. They tried to help him, really. If I ever thought they'd take advantage of the kid, I'd have blown the whistle on the whole thing."

THE KID?

"Yeah, a parolee, who's called on the show 'John Hackett.' Actually, he was the third parolee they got a lot of film on; but the final show, I know, is just about Hackett and me."

"He'd served eight years in prison already for hitchhiking and robbing motorists along Route 128. He came out last March. He's a good-looking kid, this kid and an excellent actor, like Jimmy Dean but heavier. He'd like to be like Jimmy Dean!"

"Anyhow, we got this call. Hackett had broken into a house, the police had picked him up at a submarine shop he hung out at and had him at the station."

"Here was a new story all of a sudden. The TV crew had a camera poking through a Venetian blind at Hackett and me as we got together."

"I TALKED and he became very emotional. Broke down, maybe the first time he ever cried. I guess I was like a priest or something. We were both cryin'."

"There was no actor in him."

then. It's tough to act when you know you're going to prison."

McCormack succeeded in having the three counts of breaking and entering reduced from a felony to a misdemeanor and Hackett received a sentence of six months in the house of correction.

"I wanted to keep him out of that state prison," McCormack explains, "because if he goes back there, that's the end of him. I was sure I could get the parole board not to revoke his parole—that'd mean prison after reformatory."

"I was so sure! I knew I had three votes, but they crossed me up. Gave me a zero-to-five against the kid. Oh, boy! If I had to break the news to the kid right then, I'd have lost him. But at least I persuaded the board to say they'd review the case after his six months in detention."

"SO, ON THE PROGRAM, there's a kind of climax, I suppose, as the kid comes from his cell to get the word from me."

"He was happy-go-lucky. He saw the cameramen and thought he was Tyrone Power. And when I gave him the news, he reverted to type—he went all to pieces, he swore. If the parole board had seen it, they'd have tossed him in jail for the rest of his life."

"But I got to calm him down. Told him he'd still have a shot at things six months from now, told him 'John, you want me to walk away and forget? 'Yeah, yeah, yeah,' he said, with his head bowed down, but he was shaking his head no."

"I got through to this kid, even though I'm the enemy—the law. Send him back to prison and he'll be a bad kid. Now? Well, I see him every two weeks in his cell and—well, he's comin' along."

2 Hearings Set At Salineville

SALINEVILLE — Hearings are slated next Wednesday before Mayor Stanley Fitch for motorists involved in two collisions Monday.

Lawrence McCullough, 30, of 225 3rd St., Wellsburg, was cited by Police Chief Roy Lewis for failure to stop in the assured clear distance after his car rammed the rear of one operated by Eugene J. Bryan, 71, of R.D. 2 on E. Main St. Bryan had stopped to make a left turn.

Maria Lee Leishman, 21, of R.D. 2 was cited for failure to yield the right-of-way after her car was struck by one driven by John Malone, 24, of R.D. 1 on Route 39. Chief Lewis said the woman's car went from Twill Hill Rd. into the path of the other auto.

Sigma Xi, the national honorary scientific society, was organized at Cornell University in 1866.

Bringing Up A Family

Consistency Needed In Punishment

Some parents will, for deliberate disobedience by the youngster in their presence, smile at his behavior one time, rebuke or punish him another time, or act deaf and blind at still another time. Then they wonder why this child is so disobedient. Some parents, too may not only be inconsistent in the foregoing manner but inconsistent in the kind of punishment they administer for the same undesirable behavior. Many are the letters in which parents say they have tried all sorts of punishment — threatening, spanking, scolding, depriving the child of a cherished privilege, sending him to bed or to his room, making him sit in a chair. Presumably they don't stick to any one type of punishment long enough to get desirable results.

Dr. Garry Meyers

SOME MAY WONDER why I usually advise one kind of punishment only for the child, say from three to ten — chair-sitting for a definite period (about 15 minutes for the child of three, 30 minutes for the child of ten.) It is humane and very effective, provided the child knows he would be spanked or paddled if he left the chair too soon.

If the offense is to the group, sending the youngster away — ostracizing him — may be effective. But while away, as in his own room, he might find some amusement or get into more mischief. Requiring him to sit unmolested for a definite period in another room does limit his privilege and can be better supervised.

After all, the chief purposes of punishment are to make painful, even unattractive, to the youngster what he should never do again, to instill in him the alphabet of obedience and to prepare him for self-control.

Sending a child to bed for punishment should be out, as it tends to make him dislike going to bed. Never use as punishment what you want the child to like.

THREATENING, too, in the usual sense, is bad practice. Spanking, if immediate and consistent, can be very effective.

with youngsters under four or five. But as soon as he will stay where put, it can be abandoned and replaced with chair-sitting.

I strongly believe that most young parents should aim to be able to limit punishment of the child to chair-sitting by the time he is four or five and not to feel the need to resort to spanking or paddling thereafter.

To this end it is necessary to use the bare, flat hand effectively to teach the youngster as soon as he can creep or toddle, to respect the little word No used rarely but wisely and selectively.

Let's get the youngster in his very early years ready to profit thereafter from one kind of punishment — chair-sitting, should punishment become necessary.

(My bulletins, "To Spank Or Not To Spank" and "How To Teach Child Meaning Of No" may be secured by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review).

San Jose, Costa Rica's 3,870-foot elevation and average 75-degree temperature give it a constant springlike climate.

THE REVIEW

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruce —

DEAR FOLKS: You all have asked so many questions on dry cleaning that I have submitted six of them to Mr. J. W. McEvay, "The Fabric Doctor" and grand winner of The National Institute of Dry Cleaning trophy. He has answered them in down-to-earth language. Here they are:

Q. After several cleanings my taffeta dress has gone limp. Is there any way to restore the body?

A. Taffeta material is treated in the manufacturing by a process known as sizing which imparts body and rustle to the fabric. The sizing gradually dissolves leaving the garment limp. Ask your dry cleaner to resize the dress when he dry cleans it.

Q. The dye from the trim of a white wool sweater has run into the white. What can I do to remove it?

A. Wash the sweater in the same manner as before to start the dye running again. Then quickly rinse out the suds in clear water and finally rinse in a salt water solution to set the dye. This is not always successful but it is worth a try.

Q. When a wool sweater is shrunk, can it be stretched again?

A. If the shrinkage is severe and the wool has matted there is no hope. However, in many cases the professional dry cleaner can block the sweater to the correct size.

Q. Can Fur Fabric coats be dry cleaned?

A. Original instructions on la-els were to clean by the Furrier Method only. However, the National Institute of Dry Cleaning has devised a special method of dry cleaning fur fabric coats which is less expensive, more thorough and completely safe. Regular dry cleaning procedure is not recommended.

And gals, I think we hit the nail on the head when we wrote the Fabric Doctor today. Thank you, Mr. McEvay.

HELOISE

DEAR HELOISE: After my fifth child — and trying to teach them to hold their own glass in their hands to drink their milk — I learned that their little hands just cannot coordinate.

My answer was to wrap some adhesive tape around the glass. I have found that this is rough enough, yet smooth enough that the glass did not slip out of their hands and they learn to drink much faster!

SALLY

DEAR HELOISE: If you will use the waxed paper which comes from a roll . . . and put a piece of it under your ice trays after defrosting . . . one will not have any trouble removing them from the freezer. They will not stick to the bottom of the freezer.

MARGIE SHEFFLER

DEAR HELOISE: For those who have sweet little birds

. . . whether they talk or not makes no difference — I would like you to know that I wash my bird perches once a week. Here's how:

I buy two sets! These are very cheap. Each week I clean and thoroughly dry one set of perches. I have found that my bird never gets sore and scaled feet this way.

MACHELLE BLAKE.

DEAR HELOISE: Do you want to know what to do with that batch of wool left over from knitting sweaters, socks and all those other things?

If you have a grandchild, or friend who has a child or grandchild . . . knit that baby doll a pair of slippers! The little kids love them, the grandmothers and friends adore you for doing so!

I. G.

Junior Editors Quiz on
HERALDRY

QUESTION: Why did families have coats of arms in the early days?

ANSWER: In ancient days, few people could write their names, but most belonged to a tribe or clan which had an identifying mark or symbol. In the days of the knights individual marks became important. Since a suit of armor concealed a man's face, it was very difficult to tell friend from foe on a battlefield. Picture (1) shows how a knight used a certain symbol to tell everyone who he was. From this practice of heraldry developed. The heralds were king's agents and they became experts at keeping track of all the various markings used by the knights. Special words were invented for the different markings, a few of which we show (2). As guns came in, knights no longer used suits of armor and so heraldry ceased to be important as identification. But the proud noble families went on using the marks of their ancestors and from this came the "coat of arms." These are still employed in England today. Since we don't have nobility in America, family coats of arms mean little to us. But we still use heraldry as in the design for the Great Seal of the United States and the seals of the individual states.

FOR YOU TO DO: Make a heraldic shield of your own, just for the fun of it. You could take one of the shield designs we show and put a head of your favorite dog or cat in the middle. Bright blue, green, yellow and red were usually used in coloring these shields.

Peter Romatowski of Gales Ferry, Conn., wins $10 for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review and you may win $10 or the weekly grand prize of a set of the Britannica Junior Encyclopedias.
